HISTORY OF BRENAU UNIVERSITY

Founded in 1878, Brenau University stands as a distinctive institution of higher learning. The unique name, Brenau, coined from a blend of the German word brennen, meaning “to burn,” and aurum, the Latin word for “gold,” underscores that singularity. It forms the foundation of the Brenau motto, “As Gold Refined by Fire.”

In the aftermath of the Civil War in the late 1870s, the former frontier boomtown of Gainesville, located in the foothills of Georgia’s Appalachian Mountains, prepared for progressive, evolutionary growth. Civic leaders headed by Gainesville First Baptist Church Pastor W.C. Wilkes established the Georgia Baptist Female Seminary to provide much-needed higher education opportunities for young women. However, by the beginning of the 20th century, the College had evolved into a private, nonsectarian liberal arts institution. Dr. H.J. Pearce, the dynamic young academician who had acquired principal ownership and management of the school, changed the name to Brenau College. He served almost continuously as president until his death in 1943. For about two years thereafter, his widow, Lucile Townsend Pearce, took the helm long enough to put the College on its course to serve a world of rapidly escalating change – particularly in the role of women in society.

Leadership and Governance

Today, Brenau University operates as a not-for-profit entity. Stewardship passed to the independent Brenau Board of Trustees in 1911. On July 1, 2019, Dr. Anne A. Skleder became the tenth president of Brenau University. Dr. Skleder has introduced a robust collaborative management approach and has taken significant steps to improve student success rates and expand Brenau’s student recruitment, especially internationally through strategic partnerships.

Academic and Geographic Evolution

While The Women’s College of Brenau University continues to provide a residential experience on its Gainesville campus and remains its cornerstone, in the late 1960s Brenau began teaching career-oriented majors, including teacher education and business administration, that were compatible with the strong liberal arts foundation of its core studies. In the early 1970s, the College created coeducational evening and weekend studies as well as off-campus programs designed for adult learners. It also developed graduate studies in business, education and public administration, while expanding career-oriented programs. Trustees also authorized future expansions to include coeducational programs at multiple locations. With the ongoing implementation of that policy, Brenau operates graduate and undergraduate programs for men and women at three locations in Gainesville, including the newly established Downtown Campus. Brenau also has an additional instructional site in the Atlanta suburb of Norcross. The University has experienced exponential growth in online offerings since the early 2000s and offers many undergraduate and graduate degree programs online.

Brenau for the 21st Century

In 1992, trustees voted to transform the College into Brenau University. The institution has since added a steady stream of graduate programs, including its first terminal degrees: a Master of Fine Arts in Interior Design and a Doctor of Nursing Practice that produced its first doctoral graduates in May 2014. Later that year, the University enrolled its first candidates for an Occupational Therapy Doctorate. In the spring of 2015, Brenau seated its first class in the Doctor of Physical Therapy program and graduated that first cohort in May 2018. In the spring of 2019, Brenau seated its first class in the Doctor of Education program and celebrated its first graduates in April 2021. In June 2020, the University announced the formation of the Lynn J. Darby School of Psychology and Adolescent Counseling. The University selected its inaugural cohort for its Physician Assistant Studies program in January 2021, further expanding Brenau’s impact on the medical community.

Since 2015, Brenau has affirmed its commitment to The Women’s College with the completion of a new residence hall, sorority houses and a modern athletics park for championship-class women's intercollegiate sports.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The wearing of colorful academic apparel at convocations and commencement ceremonies serves as a reminder of our union with an academic heritage whose ceremonial tradition dates to the medieval university. The American fashion of academic caps and gowns dates back to the nine Colonial Colleges, institutions of higher learning chartered prior to the American Revolution. Students of most Colonial Colleges were required to wear the regalia of their institution on a regular basis, a practice that lasted until the Civil War. Following this period, academic regalia was required to be worn only at formal ceremonies. Established codes govern the style of gown, cap, and hood depending on the institution, degree earned, and academic field. Hoods are commonly worn only by those with a master's degree or doctoral degree. The interior lining of the hood, generally made of silk, displays the colors of the institution from which the wearer received the degree. The opening of the hood, generally made of velvet, uses a color that usually denotes the academic field of study to which the degree pertains. At Brenau University, the lining is gold and black. Below is a list of the most common fields and corresponding colors:

Applied Gerontology	gold	Music.....	pink
School of Business	khaki	Nursing	apricot
Communication	white	Occupational Therapy.....	lavender
Education.....	light blue	Philosophy	dark blue
Healthcare Management	sage	Physical Therapy.....	peacock blue
Human Resources Management.....	white	Physician Assistant Studies.....	green
Interior Design	purple	Psychology.....	gold
Marketing	khaki	Theology.....	scarlet

The cap, or mortarboard, is designed in a square with the points facing to the front, rear and sides. Brenau University doctoral degree recipients wear a tam-style cap. Each mortarboard has a tassel which is worn on the left side by degree recipients and on the right side by degree candidates. As a general rule, the tassel is black. Undergraduates with a 3.50 or higher grade-point average wear black and gold tassels. Educational Specialist candidates wear a gold tassel.

Graduating members of honor societies may wear symbols of their respective organizations sponsored by Brenau University.

Alpha Lambda Delta, national freshman honor society	red, gold and white cord

GRADUATION HONORS

Undergraduate candidates who have achieved a cumulative grade-point average of 3.50 or higher for their academic work will receive the honors designation of Cum Laude, Magna Cum Laude or Summa Cum Laude on their diplomas and wear a gold and black tassel.

Summa Cum Laude	3.90 grade-point average
Magna Cum Laude	3.75 grade-point average
Cum Laude	3.50 grade-point average

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

The Brenau University Mace, commissioned by Brenau President John S. Burd, visually interprets the university's heritage and symbolizes the power and authority of learning. Designed by Georgia jewelry-making and metalsmithing artist Richard Mafong, the piece comprises a sterling silver head topped with a gold ring and studded with onyx stones atop a five-foot ebony wood staff. Engravings include the Brenau emblem and names of all university presidents. Since 1996, the longest-tenured faculty member has carried the mace to lead processions and recessions at formal occasions.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

Since 1998, the presidential regalia for formal convocations and commencement ceremonies has included the Mafong-designed Brenau University Presidential Medallion and necklace as a symbol of the authority vested in the president as the academic leader of the university. A 44-inch sterling silver chain with spacers of semi-precious citrine and onyx includes 14 roundels with space for engraved names of up to 28 presidents. The pendant is made from sterling silver, gold and black enamel.

THE BRENAU IDEAL

To find satisfaction in being rather than in seeming;
To find joy in doing rather than in dreaming;
To be prepared for service thereby earning the right to be served;
To be pure in heart; vigorous in mind, discreet in action;
To love deeply, fear nothing, hate never;
To enjoy that freedom which comes from knowledge of the "Truth";
To be modestly conscious of the limitations of human knowledge and serenely confident of the limitless reaches of human endeavor –
This is the ideal of Brenau.
-H. J. Pearce

THE BRENAU ALMA MATER

*Brenau, how nobly we see thee,
With honors richly crowned;
In all this fair, fair Southland
Thy equal is not found.
Oh, happy the day that we sought thee
By Chattahoochee's side;
Where spring gives its first kiss to nature,
And summer long doth 'bide*

ODE TO JOY

Joyful, joyful, we adore You, God of glory, Lord of love; Hearts unfold like flow'rs before You, Op'ning to the sun above. Melt the clouds of sin and sadness; Drive the dark of doubt away; Giver of immortal gladness, Fill us with the light of day!	Mortals, join the mighty chorus, Which the morning stars began; God's own love is reigning o'er us, Joining people hand in hand. Ever singing, march we onward, Victors in the midst of strife; Joyful music leads us sunward In the triumph song of life.
