Additional sites:

The university invests significant resources into programmatic accreditation outcomes. Accreditation timelines have significant implications for faculty, students, and the overall institution. The university assumes that accreditation processes are adhering to published deadlines, and that reports are submitted in a timely manner. In the event that an accreditation deadline may be missed for any reason, the administration should be notified in writing at least 30-days in advance. Failure to notify the administration of any accreditation delay or possible negative outcome will result in corrective action.
